WASHINGTON

VOL. XXIX NO. 27

WASHINGTON, D. C., SATURDAY NOVEMBER 28, 1908

Mr. Stellwagen

INAUGURAL LEADER.
Washington Banker Selected Chairman of Big Committee.
WELL QUALIFIED FOR GREAT TASK.

Member of Previous Body and Favor ed by Taft and Hitchcock.

Edward J. Stellwagen, of this city, has been appointed chairman of the inaugural committee, which will have charge of all the details attendant upon the inauguration of President-elect Taft next March.

He was notified of the appointment today by Chairman Hitchcock, of the Republican National Committee. The position is one of the most conspicuous that is conferred upon a resident of Washington, and bears with it national honor.

Mr. Stellwagen, who is president of the Union Trust Company and of the firm of Thomas J. Fisher & Co., was treasurer of the last inaugural committee, and is thoroughly conversant with the duties of the position to which he has been appointed. He also has records of previous committees in his possession, and these are of utmost value. He is regarded as being able to act as chairman of the inaugural committee, with a full knowledge of the social as well as the business side of Washington.

Others Retire From Race.

It is understood that Chairman Hitchcock talked with Judge Taft at length, as to the merits of different possibilities for the position now awarded to Mr. Stellwagen, and that the last named was the choice of the President-elect. Charles C. Glover, and Gen. Henry C. Corbin, retired, were prominently mentioned for the place.

The inaugural chairmanship is considered by both Judge Taft and Mr. Hitchcock a position charged with great responsibility; and the selection came only as the result of the most careful thought and a desire to secure the services of a most valuable man.

The post was filled four years ago by Gen. John M. Wilson, retired, who discharged his duties in a manner which set a new record in the matter of holding inaugurations.

Prominent in Washington, Mr. Stellwagen has for long been associated among the leaders in the business life of Washington. In his capacity of banker and also of operator in real estate, he has been in close touch with business and social conditions here; and also with the growth and civic development of the city. Recently he became a member of the committee of twelve men who are carrying out the project of having a great auditorium constructed in Washington, and for this purpose are about to incorporate the National Auditorium Company of Washington, D. C.

Congratulated by Friends.

The news of Mr. Stellwagen's appointment spread through the city with remarkable quickness, and it was but a short time after Mr. Hitchcock made his announcement until the former was receiving congratulations of scores of business associates and friends.

Mr. Hitchcock made no formal statement in regard to the appointment this morning, as he thought none was necessary. He will on Saturday name the secretary of the committee and it is likely that some other young business man of the Capital will be found in that position.

"The appointment came to me as a surprise," said Mr. Stellwagen this afternoon. "I am glad to receive it, though, and appreciate the honor very much. I have not been a candidate, and I don't think that my name has ever been put forward. I was more surprised than any one else when I was told by Mr. Hitchcock today that I had been selected."

Money Will Be Raised.

"I do not think I will have any more trouble raising the funds for the inauguration than is usually the case. In fact, I know that we won't have any trouble in this respect. The task does not strike me as being a difficult one, not at present at least."

"I haven't made any plans yet, and don't know what I will do. I suppose I will start to work immediately, but just where I will begin it is impossible for me to state. I intend to make this the greatest inaugural in the history of the city, and I am glad of the opportunity."

"I cannot tell you yet how anything will be worked out. I have never before thought of it. There was no formal notification or announcement of my appointment, so far as I know. Mr. Hitchcock sent word that he would like to see me, and I immediately made an appointment. I thought possibly he wanted to ask me something about raising funds or some other of the many questions, and I did wonder for a moment what it could be, but it never for an instant struck me even then that he wanted to inform me that I was the chairman."

Chosen for His Ability. Chairman Hitchcock, who called at the White House this afternoon, said Mr. Stellwagen had been chosen because of his ability as an organizer and his familiarity with inaugural committee work. Mr. Stellwagen was a member of the inaugural committee four years ago, being chairman of the finance committee and winding up its affairs after the inauguration.

This is not the first time that a Washington bank president has been selected as chairman of the inaugural committee. John Joy Edson, president of the Washington Loan and Trust Company, and Charles J. Bell, president of the American Security and Trust Company, having been chairmen at previous inaugurations.

STELLWAGEN CONSPICUOUS IN WASHINGTON BUSINESS.

President of the Union Trust Company, of the firm of Thomas J. Fisher and Co., of the Terminal Storage Company, and of the Williard Hotel Company, and vice president of the Raleigh Hotel Company, Edward J. Stellwagen is one of the biggest business men in Washington.

He has since he started in business as a young man, been prominent in business and social circles in Washington. His name carries with it a prestige that will undoubtedly be a boon to the inaugural committee. His pleasant personality has made for him a host of friends.

Mr. Stellwagen is a native born Washingtonian. He is the only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Stellwagen. He received his education in the Washington schools, having been graduated from Columbia University law school in 1875. With Thomas J. Fisher, he organized as a partnership the real estate firm of Thomas J. Fisher & Co.

As the real estate business progressed, Mr. Stellwagen broadened his activities, aiding in the organization of most of the other business interests with which he is identified today. Eight years ago Mr. Stellwagen was the principal mover in the organization of the Union Trust and Storage Company, now the Union Trust Company. Mr. Stellwagen was made president and under his guidance the business grew rapidly. The new and magnificent building at Fifteenth and H streets, which it erected a little over a year ago, was the proposal of Mr. Stellwagen.

Great Work At Tuskegee

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS AT TUSKEGEE.

Tuskegee, Alabama, Nov. 20.—A distinguished party visited Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, of which Booker T. Washington is Principal. Included in the party were Hon. James Bryce, British Ambassador to the United States and Mrs. Bryce; Sir Harry H. Johnston, the African traveller; Hon. Hugo Charitoris, attaché of the British Embassy,

IS IT SPITE WORK?

Principal Lewis Marked Down. Some few weeks ago The Bee briefly mentioned the fact that a supervising principal had entered Prof. W. H. Lewis' room and severely criticised an example he had placed upon the black-board. It turned out that the supervisor was Dr. Baily.

Upon investigation it was discovered that Prof. Lewis was right in his explanation of the example; he having been sustained by supervising principal John C. Noll. Prof. Lewis called the attention of Principal Noll to the method that he adopted and he of course the superintendent gets his information from John Doe, supervising principal. If you talk back to his "highness," it is an insult, and such is sufficient cause for your dismissal, no matter how wrong John Doe may be. He is your supervisor, here, and his word goes.

Prof. Lewis and Supervisor Baily got together Tuesday and settled their differences. It was admitted that both were wrong. Dr. Baily was wrong in criticising Principal Lewis, because Mr. Lewis was correct and principal Lewis was wrong because he didn't admit that Supervisor Baily was right and son of Lord Elcho: Rev. Leander T. Chamberlain, of New York City; Mr. Robert Underwood Johnson, associate editor, The Century Magazine; Mr. W. G. Wilcox, New York City, and Mr. Robert C. Ogden, New York City. Mr. Bryce delivered a formal address in the Tuskegee Institute Chapel on Tuesday, at 2:30 o'clock.

Ambassador Bryce said in part: "It is interesting to me to see that you have a number of students from the British empire, and I thank them for their welcome. We have within that empire many millions of the Negro race, in eastern, southern, and western Africa, and of course, also in the West Indies. We are profoundly interested in what is being done here. We hope to obtain suggestions by which we can be benefitted, and we are very glad that colored people from British Africa and the West Indies should be among you."

"I have long been convinced that the idea which your principal put forward, and which is here being worked out, of the importance of industrial training is a sound, fertile, practical idea. It is grounded in the history of the human race, every family of mankind, whatever its color, has to begin, and the white race did begin by acquiring habits of steady and constant labor, and by working out for itself a knowledge of the industries and arts on which civilization even in its simplest and rudest forms, must rest."

TUSKEGEE WINS.

El Liberal, one of the newspapers of Havana, Cuba, announces an architectural competition recently held there for the privilege of designing a Leper Hospital, and that Delfin Valdes, who graduated here in May of the present year, was successful in having his plans accepted.

Valdes came to Tuskegee a number of years ago as a very young student and was successfully promoted from year to year. He was one of the brightest of the architectural students, and we congratulate him upon his success in having his plans accepted for this important building.—Tuskegee Student.

said that it was correct. Prof. Lewis was summoned to the superintendent's office for an explanation. Prof. Lewis made a manly defense. To the surprise of Prof. Lewis he received a letter from Superintendent Bruce, informing him that his school was deficient in everything, even in music.

The Bee has made an investigation of the teaching ability of Prof. Lewis and every teacher of standing states that he is one of the best eighth grade teachers in the public schools.

The consensus of opinion is that the entire business is spite work which The Bee understands the Board of Education will investigate, and if necessary, the entire matter will be presented to the Senate District Committee.

MORE BURDENS.

The Bee interviewed a teacher highly connected in the public schools of this city, last Monday evening, and among other things he complained that there are prevalent rules which keep the teachers hustling from morning to night. The teacher says that very often the special teacher will report a teacher if he sees a piece of paper upon the floor.

Teachers must visit certain schools each week, and sit all day and observe. The rule is so, said the teacher, that you must criticise a teacher's school whether or no. If there is nothing to criticise it is not appreciated. The teacher says this is what is called "official tattling," to which many don't subscribe.

This system was inaugurated by the supervising principals. It is not believed that the superintendent knows anything about these silly rules and childish regulations.

There is a feeling of discontent throughout the entire corps of teachers. Many of them don't know where they stand. Every day, more or less, there is a new rule.

Many of the supervising principals may have a dislike for a teacher and if they do, an adverse report will go to the superintendent, against the school. Then here comes a letter from the superintendent that the alleged supervising principal, who doesn't know half as much as the teacher he has reported, telling him that Mr. Doe, supervising principal, has informed me that your school is not up to the standard, and that you are deficient in "enthusiasm, etc."

when he was wrong. Rumor has it that they both talked two hours and one was as glad as the other to close the incident.

There is no report of a lunch having been served or cold tea partaken of. It is believed that they are both happy and contented.

Superintendent Bruce is enjoying the contest between the two teachers who are casting suspicious eyes at each other.

THE NEGRO BUSINESS LEAGUE.

The meeting of the local Negro Business League, at Reformers' Hall, in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., was largely attended last Tuesday evening.

President Pittman called the meeting to order and briefly stated that it was his purpose to build up a large local organization in this city. He then introduced Mr. J. B. Anderson, who is in the grocery business in this city. His subject was "How to conduct a grocery business." His address was brief and interesting.

Dr. J. R. Francis addressed the meeting on the importance of having a banquet. The doctor didn't know of a better method of bringing out our people. We can know one another better. I think the white people are good enough to follow, said Dr. Francis.

Rev. White was the next speaker. He favored the plans suggested by Dr. Francis.

On motion of Rev. White it was decided to set apart a certain day to give an annual banquet.

Mr. Scurlock spoke on the importance of having an annual fair. He thought that an annual exposition would be a nice thing. We could display our goods to the people. By such means you would more firmly control the colored trade of the city.

Addresses were also made by R. L. Pendleton, Judge E. M. Hewlett, Robt. Lewis and others.

THE Y. M. C. A.

The laying of the corner stone of the Y. M. C. A., 12th between S and T streets, northwest, last Thursday, was largely attended. Exercises began at 3:30. President Roosevelt was of course, the central figure.

There were more than 12,000 contributors to the Republican campaign fund, and the amount contributed was $1,655,518.27.

Boer Farmer Boys Make Good Shots
On the African Veldt.
Three lions were killed near Pietersburg, Transvaal by the nineteen-year-old son of Jozef Erasmus, a Boer farmer. It appears that young Erasmus was on his way to the young mine and had outspanned his donkey team, when his kaffir boy came running to tell him that three lions were tackling the donkeys.
Erasmus seized his gun and ran hard in the direction indicated. On his arrival at the spot he found the lions lying around one of the donkeys. He fired and killed a big lioness. The other two jumped up but he was ready and shot another (younger) lioness. The young lion which was left ran behind some brushwood. Erasmus first collected his donkeys and brought them into safety and then once more carefully approached the scene of the fight.
In order to find out if the two lionesses were dead he fired another shot at one of them. This disturbed the surviving lion who thereupon came forth roaring. Erasmus was again ready and shot him dead on the spot.
Asked by the Volksstem correspondent whether he was alone at the time, Erasmus replied: "Oh, no, Oom! I had my little Kaffir boy, with me!—The skins were sold in Pietersburg.—Pretoria Volksstem."

oldest bridegroom was 68 and the

It is made from the soja bean. The it the beans are first soaked and then boiled in water. Some sugar and phosphate potassium are added, and it is boiled down till it has the consistency of condensed milk.

GO MEASURE YOURSELF.

Now that the presidential contest has been fought and won — victory perching on the banners of Judge Taft — there is a hustling on the part of colored patriots for place. Out through the West and Middle West, and down in the land of Dixie, there are not a few who are sighting, thru their political field glasses, at places held in Washington by "Sons of Ham." And around here in Washington there are a few who are willing to offer themselves upon the altar of ambition as a willing sacrifice to political preferment.

The Bee has some advice, however, to give to these patriots. First, not all of them who say "Ye" will be called. And those who only sighted the band wagon after it turned the corner of Victory street, and who spent the time previous throwing stones at the Taft band wagon, and heaping anathemas upon President Roosevelt, ought not to expect to be among those first anointed.

And here's another bit of advice: Go carve out a place for yourself. Don't become possessed with the idea that you are only large enough, or just small enough, or just jealous enough, or just so much of an iconoclast that you can only hold some position already being filled by another colored man with credit to the service and with credit to the race.

If there is a colored man who is holding office who is unsatisfactory because he is incapable, or because he is not rendering proper service, you violate no race interests by going after his position, providing you are big enough yourself. And always bear in mind that your estimate of yourself may be about one hundred percent higher than the public's estimate.

Another bit of advice. It is not reasonable to presume that President-elect Taft is going to remove from office colored men who were with him loyally and energetically from start to finish for no other reason than to make room for some other colored men simply because these some other colored men just want place.

Go measure yourself, and then go measure the office and measure the man now holding it, and you may have occasion to save yourself an unnecessary amount of wasted energy in office-hunting.

OUR SCHOOLS.

Just why there are so many complaints against the supervising principals in the colored schools The Bee is unable to state. The white schools are all running smoothly and apparently without friction. The Bee is informed of certain male principal of inability to properly manage his school, and yet this individual is kept in his school over more deserving female teachers. If this favoritism is to continue in the colored schools it would be better to place them under white supervision.

The Bee is of the opinion that the superintendent of the colored schools is being imposed upon by certain ones of his subordinates. The Bee does not want to believe that Mr. Bruce is sanctioning the action of certain supervising principals. The Bee does not want to believe that Mr. Bruce is blindly reading the marking in the Lewis case, and many other cases of which The Bee has data and knowledge.

If Congress is called upon to investigate the colored schools, and radical changes are recommended, the colored school officials can blame no man but themselves. The citizens are preparing for a fight, which is very much to be regretted. The appointment of Miss Martha Shadd as one of the supervising principals is unanimously endorsed by the people. Miss Shadd is a young lady of high culture. She has the love and respect of every teacher under her supervision. She has no prejudices. She has no favorites. The school that was made vacant by the resignation of Dr. Beckley continues to wait for the gentleman from the South.

There are hundreds of Normal School graduates knocking at the door of our public schools, asking for permission to teach. Hundreds of our washerwomen are today decrepit and broken down because they spent the best portion of their life to educate their daughters — and for what? For some outsider to be imported and appointed to places that their daughters should fill. It should be stopped, and at once.

TUSKEGEE AND ITS WORK.

It should be gratifying to the colored Americans to know that they have a representative that stands so high in the estimation of every nationality in this civilized world, and is doing so much for humanity.

The work of Tuskegee under the principalship of Dr. Booker T. Washington is to be commended by colored Americans especially. Dr. Washington is doing for his people what no other colored American has ever done or will ever do in the next generation to come.

There must not only be something in Dr. Washington, but in his great work for his people, that educators, philanthropists, statesmen and the dignitaries of the world respect and honor.

In another column of The Bee will be seen a report to The Bee of a visit to Tuskegee by some of the greatest men in the civilized world. If such people as these honor this great man, certainly the colored Americans should do likewise, and show their appreciation by presenting to Tuskegee at least five or ten scholarships. Why not? Doesn't Dr. Washington deserve it? The Bee thinks so, as well as other fair-minded men and people.

Tuskegee deserves a national testimonial from the colored American race, and The Bee hopes that every race loving individual will see the importance of tendering to Tuskegee some token of appreciation. Who will begin the movement?

WHO IS TO BLAME?

Complaints continue to be made by many of the teachers in the public schools. Some time ago the Superintendent, Mr. Stewart, was informed that the colored teachers had been requested to attend certain special lectures on a special model school tonight, by young graduates or certain teachers who don't know as much as the teachers who are being taught. Many teachers are forced to attend supervisors lectures after they have been teaching all day, and at the conclusion of the lectures the teacher does not know as much then as he did before he attended the lectures.

The Bee would like to know who is to blame for all of these unnecessary meetings? It would seem that a teacher is entitled to some rest after he has taught all day.

Just what benefit is derived from these special lectures the teacher is unable to state.

The school authorities should attend a few of them and witness the farce.

AUDITOR TYLER.

The Bee suggests the name of Auditor Ralph W. Tyler as the man to arrange for a suitable testimonial to Tuskegee Institute, of which Dr. Booker T. Washington is principal.

There should be at least ten scholarships given to Tuskegee by colored Americans. These scholarships will not only be a benefit to Tuskegee, but to the colored race. Auditor Tyler would be the proper person to place at the head of this great testimonial. It is believed that every city in the United States would contribute to a scholarship for some worthy boy or girl.

A GOOD SELECTION.

Mr. Edward J. Stellwagen, who has been appointed chairman of the inaugural committee by National Committeeman Hitchcock, is the very best selection that could be made. Mr. Stellwagen is a Washingtonian pure and simple and a man in whom the people have confidence.

The Bee congratulates Mr. Stellwagen and commends Chairman Hitchcock.

RECEPTION TO THE WELLERS. GATHERING OF CITIENS AT LINCOLN TEMPLE.

Tribute From Board of Trustees of Social Settlement Workers—Felicitation Exchanged.

The board of trustees of the Colored Social Settlement tendered a reception to Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Weller, former members of the board, last Saturday night, at the Lincoln Temple, 11th and R streets northwest.

Mr. Weller, who was formerly secretary of the Associated Charities of this city, and who holds a similar position. The reception last night was a recognition of Mr. Weller's contribution toward higher standards of civilization in this city in establishing the colored conference class of the Association in Pittsburgh, is visiting this city, and visiting this city, which instituted the colored Social Settlement and established it in its quarters at 116 and 118 M street southwest.

The exercise opened with a selection by the temple choir. Rev. Dr. Grimes offered prayer. Rev. S. N. Brown delivered the address of welcome, after which he introduced Commissioner Macfarland, who said: Commissioner Macfarland's Remarks.

"No one has done more for the Colored Social Settlement work of Washington, and you do well to honor them to-night. As pioneers in social settlement work in Washington they drew to its support many of our best citizens and greatly increased the general interest in it. All the settlements have profited by the stimulus they gave to the public mind and conscience."

"By neighboring all whom they could help in the spirit of the Good Samaritan they stirred us all to new endeavors in social service. We shall miss them greatly, although we shall rejoice that Pittsburg is to have their leadership in its social activities of the higher order; but their work here will remain because it was laid on sure foundations and honestly constructed. Nothing would please them more than to see the Colored Social Settlement undertakings given permanent housing and adequate facilities."

"Those of us who share their deep interest in the brave and self-sacrificing labors which you represent are hoping that one of their memorials may be of this character. No philanthropist could do better social service to the National Capital than by helping in this splendid enterprise."

Mr. Weller's Address.

Following brief addresses by Prof. Kelly Miller of the Howard University, Rev. W. J. Howard, Prof. R. C. Bruce and a selection by the choir, Mr. Weller delivered an address, in which he said, in part:

"The Colored Social Settlement at 116 and 118 M street southwest, in my judgment, is one of the most important philanthropies of Washington, and the colored race for the faults of some of their members or to feel that the colored people have accomplished notable results in their forty-three years of freedom, we must all agree in commanding a work which teaches thrift, inculcates habits of industry and raises moral standards in the neighborhoods where such lessons are most needed. The social settlement places in the midst of the poorest and most undeveloped community a model private home, the residence of people who have had education and other cultural advantages which they desire to share with those who have been less fortunate."

"This residence, with its family life, becomes the center for neighborhood gatherings and for clubs, classes and educational work. Volunteers are enlisted to aid in carrying on the many activities, and the settlement reaches out its influence into the homes of its neighbors. At the Colored Social Settlement, for example, there are classes in housekeeping, including cooking and chamberwork. There is instruction in carpentry and other branches of manual training. There are Sunday meetings and frequent gatherings through the week, when the boys and girls of the neighborhood absorb, often unconsciously, the ideals of the club leaders."

"A branch of the City Library is a type of the many useful activities which naturally come to center in such a social settlement.

"Since I removed from Washington to Pittsburg, I have kept closely in touch by correspondence with the work of the Colored Social Settlement. Nothing in Washington has seemed to me more brave and more devoted in spirit than the work which Miss Eloise Bibb, head resident of the Colored Social Settlement, has done to collect funds for the running expenses of the work and of making possible the erection of the new building which has long been greatly needed.

"For six years the settlement has demonstrated both the fact that it is greatly needed and the fact that the methods which it employs are eminently appropriate and effective. It has now outgrown its quarters, and it has undertaken to build a very plain, modest looking building, which it is securing at remarkably low cost. Two contributions, one of $500 and one of $800, have been received, together with smaller gifts. John Joy Edson is treasurer of the building fund, and I know of no other work in Washington which is more worthy of generous support."

District Suffers by Contrast.

Washington has about 20,000 Negroes, it was declared, who live in alleys, shacks and shanties. As a contrast with the efforts made in other cities for extensive "settlement" and "neighborhood" work, Washington has but this one settlement for Negroes, which occupies two adjoining small dwelling houses, and with very limited equipment influences 600 families in its vicinity. Early next year the work will be moved into a new building near by.

The reception was held at the close of the exercises.

Besides Commissioner Macfarland, the other members of the advisory council are Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale, Mrs. John Hay, Miss H. E. Crippen, Judge William H. DeLacy, John W. Douglass, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Hobson, Mrs. Archibald Hopkins, Mrs. John R. McLean, Dr. W. P. Thirkield, John B. Sleman, Jr., and Rev. Dr. John Van Schaick.

Henry E. Williams, assistant chief of the weather bureau, is treasurer of the board of trustees, the other members of which are as follows: Dr. Sara N. Brown, chairman; Miss Eloise Bibb, headworker; Roscoe C. Bruce, A. U. Craig, Mrs. Anna J. Cooper, Mrs. Bettie G. Francis, Rev. Alexander C. Garner, Rev. F. J. Grimke, Rev. J. W. Howard, Samuel Middleton, Mrs. Everett Wallace Smith, Mrs. Mary Church Terrell, Ralph W. Tyler and James E. Walker.

This is not the first year that Amherst has been represented by colored boys.

W. H. Lewis, Harvard's center was captain of Amherst's team back in the 90's. Mr. W. T. S. Jackson, principal of M. Street High School, from which these boys graduated, was right halfback on Amherst's team and held the 880 record for seven years.

ORDERS BY PIGEON POST.

Messengers Used By English Butchers for Country Trade.

"Orders executed by post" is a common enough phrase nowadays, but "orders by pigeon post" is something new.

The "pigeon post" has been recently instituted by Don Harris, son of a butcher at Herne Bay, who regularly employs homing pigeons to carry orders from outlying districts to his father's shop.

Mr. Harris, Jr., when he goes to collect orders takes six of his fastest birds in the trap with him. After he has gone a couple of miles and collected a dozen orders he liberates a pigeon with the orders enclosed in a little metal case attached to the bird's foot. Before five minutes have elapsed these orders are in the delivery trap on the way to the customers.

At various stages of his round (which usually takes three hours) Mr. Harris liberates the other birds with more orders, and by the time he returns to the shop all the orders received by pigeon post have been despatched.

"Sometimes my rounds take me more than three hours," said Mr. Harris, "and formerly customers who lived any distance out did not get their joints until too late for the midday meal. Now my pigeons have solved the difficulty. The birds will often travel at a speed of more than a mile a minute, so you can guess the time they save. I have never known a bird to go astray." —London Daily Mail.

The Towns of No-Go.

Kind Friends, have you heard of the Town of No-Go, on the banks of the River Slew, where the Sometime-or-other scents the air and the soft Geese grow? It lies in the valley of What's-the-use, in the province of Let-her-slide. It's the home of the reckless I-don't-care-where the Give-it-ups abide. The town is as old as the human race, and it grows with the flight of years; it is wrapped in the fog of the Idler's dreams; its streets are paved with discarded schemes, and are sprinkled with useless tears.

Admission By Ticket.

Mandy was a young colored girl, fresh from the cotton fields of the South. One afternoon she came to her Northern Mistress and handed her a visiting card.

"De lady wha' gib me dis in de pa'lor," she explained. "Day's amoder lady on de do step."

"Gracious, Mandy!" exclaimed the mistress. "Why didn't you ask both of them to come in?"

"Cayse, ma'am," grinned the girl, "do one on de do step done fo'g'er ticket." —Judge's Library.

It is said that Vice President Fairbanks will resume the practice of law after the fourth of next March.

THINK ABOUT THIS.

Your home may be made to correspond to a good bank-account. Its furnishings may be added to a little at a time until you have accumulated a handsome nest-egg right there. And such a thing is not hard to do if you go about it in the right way.

We know of no firm in Washington which will help you to such an extent in this direction as the Peter Grogan and Sons Company, of 817-823 Seventh street. A person who is at all responsible may go to their store and buy a bill of housefurnishings without being required to make a cash payment at the time. They simply ask you to pay a small amount weekly or monthly. The goods are delivered to you without a contract, lease or note, and they are yours. You have an open account with them, and by keeping it in good standing you can add to it just as you need more goods.

Payments will be arranged to correspond with your income, and a little careful planning will keep you from feeling them at all. It's a good way to save. When the bill is paid you have something to show for it, and you've had the use of the goods while paying. Make your home comfortable. Make it attractive. You'll be a lot happier, and you'll take a pride in having your friends with you there.

The Bee can be purchased at the following places:

character of Shylock at all. Shylock's address to the court after it had decided that he should have the pound of flesh, never ranted nor did he beat his chest. The old Jew was calm and cunning, and very determined. Mr. Harrison failed to articulate distinctly and neither did he portray the character of the Jew. He didn't have the Jewish accent. The same criticism may be made of Dunbar's poems. Their recital lacked the Negro dialect. There is no occasion to perspire and true as the reader says, that on one occasion he was told that he saw Irving Booth and many other great actors in Shylock but he perspired more than all of them combined. There was no occasion for ranting in the least. Throughout the entire play of the Merchant of Venice, Shylock is calm and cunning; his voice ratty, and it lack music. He would make a very good assistant to a star, but he has not reached the point where he can class himself as such.

52 ANNIVERSARY.

Of St. Paul's A. M. E. Church, was celebrated last week with appropriate ceremony, comprising a series of concerts and literary exercises, under the management of Prof. Wm. Jennifer, Ph.D. More than one hundred dollars clear were realized to the church.

Prof. Jennifer never "does things by halves," and the fact that he was manager was synonymous of success. The Church was filled with an appreciative audience that remained throughout the exercises.

SOUTH AMERICAN INVIGORANT.

How Coca Is Cultivated—Used as Preventive of Sleep and Fatigue.

Coca is the South American invigorant. The shrub from which the coca leaves are obtained grows under favorable conditions to a height of about four meters. It is cultivated in Peru and Bolivia.

At the time the crop is gathered the seeds are sown in beds, when they germinate and grow, and in two months the growing plants reach a height of about a foot. The leaves, grown in the proper sunlight and shade, are yellowish, small and thick.

This is the kind of leaf that is preferred for chewing by persons using the leaf as a stimulant, fortifier and preventive of sleep and fatigue in the performance of arduous work, insomuch as they prevent rheumatism, from which miners suffer when working in mines that contain much water. Indians who masticate the leaves of this plant can work twenty-four hours without eating or sleeping.

Coca leaves are used by the natives when engaged in long and fatiguing journeys and by soldiers when subject to hardships and privations. They may be used with all kinds of food and are said to cure dyspepsia, either taken as an infusion in the shape of tea or by masticating the leaves. The life of the plant when perfect is eighty years.

RUN BY THE TIDE OF THE ELBE.

A 14,000-horse power plant operated by tidal energy is to be established on the south bank of the Elbe, near Cuxhaven. This is by far the most ambitious project of this character which has ever been contemplated. Electrical energy is to be delivered to the town named for various commercial purposes, but the greater part of the product of this great power plant is to be made use of by factories which are to be established in the vicinity. Hamburg capital is mostly interested in the scheme.

Weekly Holiday Enforced.

In New Zealand everybody is bound by law to take weekly half-holiday, and there must be no shirking the obligation. The Grand hotel, Auckland, was recently crowded with guests, and several waiters, instead of obeying the law and taking their prescribed weekly half-holiday, remained at work on the promise of extra pay. But the authorities came to hear of it and the proprietor of the hotel had to appear in court, where he was convicted and punished.

Japanese and Their Prisoners.

The Japanese have a rather kindly way of treating prisoners who have not been convicted. The regulation prison dress is a kind of strawberry-red-colored kimono, but many wear light blue, as sign that although under suspicion, they have not yet been found guilty. When prisoners in this class have occasion to pass through the public streets curious extinguisher-like baskets are placed upon their heads.

Emeralds.

At the present day most of the emeralds that come into the market are obtained from the famous mines of Muzo, in the Colombian province of Bayaca. These workings are situated on the eastern slope of the Andes, about 70 miles to the northwest of the town of Santa Fe de Bogota. There is another mine, called Lasquez, two days' journey by muleback from Muzo.

Worries of Modern Life.

Nowadays we must not drink spirits nor eat meat; we must not smoke; the air of cities is poisonous, the air of country too strong the light ruins our eyes and the sun racks our nerves; shaking hands is a means of collecting microbes and kissing is pure suicide. Life is indeed growing dull and difficult.—Madrid Diario.

French Illiteracy.

Although France has had compulsory education for about 25 years, the percentage of illiterates reaches the high figure of 40 per 1,000 men, and 60 per 1,000 women. In this regard Germany appears to great advantage, as she has only four illiterates per 1,000 of population.

Art of Eating.

Eating is not merely an enjoyment; it is a science that must be learnt, as art that must be acquired by intelligent patience. The man who at middle age has not discovered what and how much is suitable for him has not finished his education.

New York has about twice the population of Chicago. The five largest cities on earth are, in the order of their size, London, New York, Paris, Chicago, Berlin. London has about a third more people than New York.

NEW ZEALAND'S WHITE ISLAND.

Always Enveloped in Clouds of Steam—Its Strange Lakes.

White Island, New Zealand, derives its name from the clouds of white steam in which it appears to be continually enveloped. Its area is only 600 acres, and its height about 880 feet above the sea level.

In form and color it is like a reposing camel, while its interior with its gray, weather beaten, almost perpendicular cliffs, recalls the Coliseum at Rome. Overhanging the southern landing place stands a column of rock closely resembling a sentinel, which has been dedicated to the memory of Capt. Cook. The water of the island is of a pale green hue, and anything dipped into it becomes of a red brick color. The fumes of sulphur are always plainly perceptible.

On a fine moonlight night a wonderful sight is afforded to any one who will sit in an open boat in one of the lakes of the island. Covering an area of fifty acres is an immense cauldron hissing and snorting and sends forth volumes of poisonous steam, while all chances of egress appear to be denied by the steep silent and gloomy cliffs.

Japan's Purpose to Rise.

The important inquiry with regard to Japan in a large way—is it not?—as to the direction in which the nation is now moving. And in answer to this inquiry I am able to give a most unequivocal and quite satisfactory answer. Never before in the history of the country, and at the present time in the history of no other country, do we find the same intelligent, deliberate and widely prevalent purpose to do away with the nation's reproach and to rise in the scale of national business morality. In saying this I speak what I know to be true.—Charles Verona.

MONTENEGRO'S NEW CAPITAL.

Montenegro is building a new capital at Antivari, the port of its present capital. The works, which are in the hands of Italian contractors, were inaugurated this month by the ruling prince, who insisted in his speech on the close ties of interest binding Montenegro to Italy on the one hand and to Russia on the other, while he left Austria out in the cold.

It is supposed that the new town is to be the terminus of Russia's Balkan line, and the speech is regarded as having considerable diplomatic importance for that reason.

Nuts for Squirrels.

The New York Park Department asked that visitors feed to the squirrels only hard-shelled nuts as the eating of soft-shelled ones permits the teeth of the pets to grow long and turn under, so that they are unable thereafter to crack the hard nuts they bury in the ground for the winter's store. These hard nuts consequently, rot and the squirrels die of starvation. Here is an excellent object lesson for the human race in the care of teeth.

PEANUTS IN INDIA.

The cultivation of American peanuts which was introduced into the Kolhapur State some years ago by one of the American medical missionaries, has become so popular that they now have become almost the chief crop. Unfortunately the people persist in eating them raw, as they formerly ate the little country nuts and as the American nuts are much richer acute digestive troubles and liver inflammation are the frequent result.

Decadence of Billiards.

Billiards are dying out—in France, at least. According to statistics of taxes, while there were 94,123 billiard tables in France in 1892, in 1906 there were only 89,939. It is probably to the success of outdoor sports and of motoring that in due time affection for a game which has had famous votaries.

Value of the Nile.

The Nile is one of the longest rivers in the world, but it is not especially valuable as a navigable stream. Its chief benefit to the country is from the immense deposits of mud carried down in the annual floods and which have made the region overflowed one of the most fertile in the world.

New Yorkers Wear Out Shoes.

No wonder that so many shops in New York City sell shoes and that so many shops sell nothing but shoes, for it is estimated that the pedestrians of the city wear out 28,900 pairs of shoes each day.

OLD-TIME CLOTHING FOR LADS.

Gay Apparel Worn by Schoolboys 200 Years Ago.

How would the schoolboys of today enjoy wearing gayly-flowered vests, fine blue or red stockings and blue plush breeches? This was only a part of the gay apparel worn by schoolboys of two centuries or more ago. There were few public schools in those early days, and the boys who attended "pay schools" were very particular about their apparel.

A single example will give a good idea of the contents of one small trunk of a boy leaving home for school. A lad about 10 years old, named John Livingstone, was sent from New York to school in New England in the latter part of the Seventeenth Century. An account of his new linen and clothes has been preserved. It reads thus, in the old spelling:

Eleven new shirts.
4 Pair faced sleeves.
8 Plane Cravats.
4 Cravats with Lace.
4 Stripe Wastcoats with black buttons.

1 Flowered Wastcoat.

4 New oisenbrg breeches.
1 Gray hat with a black ribbon.
1 Gray hat with a blue ribbon.
1 Dousin black buttons.
1 Dousin coloured buttons.
Silk & Thread to mend his Cloathes.
3 Pair silver buttons.
2 Pair Fine red Stockings.
4 White Handkerchiefs.
3 Pair Gloves.
1 Stuff Coat with black buttons.
1 Cloth Coat.
1 Pair blue plush breeches.
1 Pair Serge Britches.
3 Combs.
1 Pair new Shoes.
"Osenbrg" was a heavy linen. Other schoolboys of that date had deer-skin breeches. Little boys, just as soon as they could walk, wore clothes precisely like their fathers' doublets, which were warm doublet jackets; and leather knee-breeches, leather belts and knit cap.—Philadelphia Record.

The Animals Must Sleep.

The following notice is said to have been posted up by order of the mayor in a small parish in the upper Pyrenees:

"Seeing that the young people of the parish are accustomed to assemble every Sunday after mass to dance, and that the noise which they make frightens the hens, cocks, pigs and other domestic animals of the village, and that the result is a falling away injurious to agriculture, we hereby prohibit the dances during the hours that the domestic animals take their repose."

Seeds are Food.

Tamarind seeds are to be reckoned among the fairly nutritious plant products that have been reported to provide food during periods of famine in India, says Nature. The pulp of the fruit is an esteemed ingredient of certain condiments. The kernels of the seeds when freed from the skin and roasted furnish a not unwholesome flour, suitable for mixing with cereals to make small cakes.

Special Test of Timber.

An example of the progress of the science of forestry in this country is furnished by the co-operation just arranged between the University of Idaho and the United States forest service for testing the timber growing in the State of Idaho. The tests will be specially directed to determine the fitness of these timbers for use as bridge stringers, railroad ties and paving blocks.

Sapphires of Different Colors.

To say that anything is "as blue as a sapphire" is to make use of an incorrect comparison. Sapphires are not exclusively one color. The sapphires of Ceylon vary from a soft blue to a peacock blue, which is practically a green. There is also a red sapphire, sometimes called a Ceylonese ruby. Further, many fine sapphires are yellow or white.

Thoreau's Sensible Answer.

When the forest-haunting hermit Thoreau lay on his deathbed, a Calvinistic friend called to make inquiry regarding his soul. "Henry," he said, anxiously, "have you made your peace with God?" "John," replied the dying naturalist, in a whisper, "I didn't know that God and myself had quarreled!"

Extend Siberian Road.

A great extension of the Siberian railroad is proposed along the River Amur, and as it has met with hearty approval on the part of the present ministry, it is likely to be constructed. It will open up 40,000 acres of corn land.

Australian Country Homes.

In the Blue mountains, three hours from Sydney, are many beautiful country houses, mostly bungalows with wide verandas all round, where Sydney people fly in February and March to get away from the heat of the city by the harbor.

THE SIMPLE LIFE IN FINLAND.

In the Summer All Classes Spend Most of the Time Out of Doors.

In Finland everybody lives the simple life in summer. They camp out on islands, in the forests, and always somewhere near the water, for everybody swims and bathes. Almost all classes sleep and eat al fresco at this time of year and the town councils of the towns in this progressive and altogether delightful little country provide public fireplaces and public bathing sheds in all places where the working classes go in search of fresh air.

But the simple life is by no means dull with the frisky Finns. They combine it with a surprising amount of gaiety. They eat, drink and are very merry in their picturesque little log cabins outside the cities.

When they are tired of bathing and splashing, they dance, they sing, they watch fireworks and practice gymnastics; they all become like children and are the very happiest, merriest, most good natured, most easily pleased and most healthy holiday makers in the world.

The Longest-Lived.

If you would enjoy a long life you should become a minister (of any religious denomination), or, failing that, a gardener, a gamekeeper, a farmer or a railway engine driver.

These, according to Dr. John Tatham's report to the Registrar-General on the mortality in certain occupations during the three years from 1900, which was issued last night, are the callings which offer the best prospect of longevity. At the other end of the scale come the general laborer, the tin miner, the hawkerman and the hotel servant, and about midway are the physician, the undertaker and the tobacconist.

As compared with lawyers, Dr. Tatham records, medical men die more rapidly at every stage of life, while as compared with the clergy their mortality is enormously in excess.—London Daily Chronicle.

Work Uplifts.

All business and all work should lift up, and not hold down; it should make free, and not enslave: It should ennoble, and not degrade. It is as honorable to make shoes or anchors as it is to paint pictures or write books.

The shoemaker should learn the secret through his work of finding the sandals of manhood for his own feet. The blacksmith should learn, through the making of anchors for his great ships, to find the anchor that is to hold his own soul to the truth amid the storms of life.—Rev. J. W. Lee, D. D.

Porpoises at Play.

A remarkable photograph of half a dozen porpoises playing under water just ahead of the bow of a steamer ship travelling at the rate of 12 knots an hour, has been published by a correspondent of knowledge, Mr. C. H. Gale. Mr. Gale calls attention to the singular fact that the porpoises while easily maintaining their position ahead of the ship showed no apparent effort or motion of body, tail or fin. Yet he thinks that they were not carried along by movement of water in front of the vessel, because air bubbles were seen rushing from their backs, and the photograph shows the effects of these bubbles by the white streaks on the backs of the animals. Sometimes they rolled over sideways, but they always maintained their position.—Youth's Companion.

Indian Courage.

Katherine Beaulieu, a pupil of the Chilocco Indian School, Oklahoma, had her hand caught in the big steam mangle, and before the machine could be stopped the arm had been dragged in above the elbow. The physician was able to save the arm but in order to facilitate healing it was necessary to graft fifty pieces of skin over the wound. Volunteers were called for and the doctor reported several scrimmages among the other pupils for the privilege of being the first to contribute part of their epidermis.—From the Indian's Friend.

European Stationery.

Hotel stationery must be cheap in Europe. The envelopes are 6 1/2 by 5 inches, and usually of some green or bluish tint, with an inch of heavy printing across the top. Frequently no place is left for the stamp. These receptacles are so wide that they arrive folded over a couple of inches, which reduces them to the size of the ordinary American commercial envelope.

The Whole Alphabet.

In the twenty-first verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra can be found every letter of the English alphabet. It runs thus: "And I, even I, Artaxerxes the King, do make a decree to all the treasures which are beyond the river, that whatsoever Ezra the priest, the scribe of the law of the God of heaven, shall require of you, it be done speedily."

More Terrible Than Cannon.

A man was blown up by an automobile the other day and killed. He had fought through 60 battles in the Civil War. After all in these days of the automobile one must acknowledge that peace has its perils no less than war.—Baltimore American.

For Bait.

Take water in which walnut hulls have soaked over night and pour it on a spot of ground. In a very few hours the fishing worms will come to the surface and can easily be procured for your expedition.

Artists Models.

There are in Europe 10,000 women and girls who earn a living as artists' models. It is strange to say that there are not ten among them who possess a perfect face and figure.

SOON WE'LL EAT CANNED WHALE

Like Beef and Very Palatable;
Cheap, Too—Danger of Exterminating Whales.

MANY MERITS OF THE NEW DIET

Salted Meat is Sold at the Rate of Two Cents a Pound—Most of it Now Used to Make Fertilizers—Widespread Market Sought.

Victoria, B. C.—Whale meat as an article of food and the preservation of whale life in the waters of the Pacific are questions agitating the whaling industry on the coasts of Vancouver and in the far East. The many whaling companies of Japan operating steam whalers have formed a combination to enforce a close season, owing to the decreasing number of whales. This news was brought here by the Japanese liner Aki Maru, from the far East. The various companies interested in whaling held a conference, and a resolution was passed favoring the formation of a guild.

Whaling in the waters of the Canadian Pacific seaboard is still in its infancy, but the need is clearly realized of protection to the quarry. Roy C. Andrews of the department of mammals and birds of the American Museum of Natural History, New York, who has recently returned home from a five months trip spent on this island for the purpose of studying whale life, said before leaving that the whales are being hunted so extensively that they will soon become extinct.

Mr. Andrews during his stay at the whaling station on the west coast was enabled to study the subject at first hand. He himself saw more than 200 whales killed with the harpoon gun, with which the steam whalers Orion and St. Lawrence of the coast stations are armed. From the mast head of the Orion Mr. Andrews has witnessed their last struggles. Some of the whales measured eighty feet in length. From his observations carried on here and at other places he is satisfied that the days of the whale are numbered.

Up to this date the two little steamers named have accounted for the lives of more than 500 whales, and in the course of a few weeks another station on the east coast of the Island will be in full operation, while the sites for two more stations in the Queen Charlotte Islands have been selected, and by next season these also will be at work adding to the slaughter.

An effort is now being made to introduce whale meat as an article of food. Already quite a trade is done with Japan in canned and salted whale meat. The new idea is to start a campaign to educate the people of European race on the undoubted merits of the new diet. Samples of canned whale meat have been distributed from the headquarters of the whaling company in this city, and those who have tried it say that the meat is exceedingly palatable, being much tenderer than beef and greatly resembling it in taste. At present tons and tons of whale flesh are used in the manufacture of fertilizers, which are one of the most valuable by-products of the industry, but it takes three tons of flesh to make one of fertilizer, and this latter is sold at the rate of two cents per pound, the price at which the salted meat is sold. For this reason the company is trying to create a larger market for the meat, both salted and canned.

MEN 100,000 YEARS AGO.

Exchange Professor Peuck Deduces This from Conditions in Alpine Cave.

London.—Prof. Peuck, director of the Berlin Deep Sea Institute and American Exchange professor, is to lecture on the interesting anthropological discovery made in a wonderful cave named the Wielkerhöhle, at Sankt, Switzerland.

Dr. Eckehardt discovered this cave and later on Dr. Bachler unearthed it in numerous remains of a colony of bears with a quantity of human bones of the prehistoric period. The discovery showed that mankind dwelt in the cave and lived on the bears which they killed in hunting.

Prof. Peuck in the course of a visit to the cave ascertained that this state of things could only have occurred during the last interglacial era. He thereby proved that human beings must have lived in the mountains before the last glacial modification of the Alps, which, according to Prof. Peuck's calculation, was about 100,000 years ago.

Robbed Ostriches.

Tucson, Arizona.—J. H. Bleven, and J. H. Rinehart were arrested, charged with the theft of feathers from ostriches. The feathers show that they have been pulled out of the ostriches and not plucked in the regular way. This is always a damaging proceeding and sometimes results fatally. At any rate, a feather will never grow in the socket from which a feather has been pulled. Bleven and Rinehart were sent to the county jail.

MADE TO ENTOMB A TARTAR GIRL

Austrian Mason Goes Insane After a Horror Among Caucasus Tribe.

Odessa.—Peter Kavulitch, an Austrian mason, went mad here as the result of brooding over being forced to wall up the daughter of the chieftain of a Tartar tribe in the Caucasus in a living tomb. He was kidnapped in Baku a month ago, taken blindfolded into the mountains, compelled to build the wall around the girl, and then was turned loose outside Baku. For a week he led a party of soldiers in a vain attempt to find the girl.

The girl was condemned to death in the tomb because she eloped with one of her father's servants. She was engaged to the son of a wealthy Tartar, and all preparations had been made for the wedding. She was caught with the servant after a two day's chase, and was tried at a family council. It was decided to build a wall around her and leave her to her fate. Kavulitch was kidnapped, and he was taken into the mountains to find the whole tribe drawn up to witness the living burial of the girl.

The man protested against the work, but his life was threatened unless he obeyed. The girl was tied hand and foot to a stake. She implored mercy, but her cries were unheeded. A circle was drawn around her, and the mason was made to follow it with a wall two feet thick. The wall was raised a foot above the victim's head, and a small opening was made for air, so that her sufferings might be prolonged. As soon as his work was finished Kavulitch was blindfolded again. He was set at liberty with 100 roubles in his pocket. He came to Odessa and went mad in the street. He was taken to a hospital in a straitjacket.

A LOAF OF BREAD PUT IN TWO COFFINS.

Half Buried with Wife, Husband's Grave Now Contains Other Part.

Brooklyn.—Adolph Raad, who formerly lived at No. 118 Leaque street, was buried in Greenwood Cemetery, the coffin containing one-half of a loaf of rye bread, the other half of which had been buried with Mrs. Raad four years ago. The aged couple were born in Ludenbach, Germany. They purchased a farm in what is now Flatbush, and as the city gradually encroached upon their farm land they cut it up and sold it until they were soon able to retire comfortably.

There is an old German custom of making a wish whenever a fresh loaf of bread is cut. On September 7, 1904, Mrs. Raad had just made the customary wish, and was about to cut a loaf when she dropped dead. The husband cut the loaf and put half in his wife's coffin. The other half was preserved in a tin box, the neighbors having been instructed to put it in his coffin.

FORTUNE FOR FAMILY OF SWINDLED MAN.

Restitution Puts Impoverished Widow and Children in Affluence.

Galveston, Tex.—Mrs. George Overton and family of two sons and two daughters who have been eking out an existence on a small farm near Fort Lancaster, in Crockett County, have been presented with a thousand-acre ranch in Edward County, well stocked with cattle and $10,000 in cash, by a former partner of the husband and father of the Overtons.

George Overton, who died five years ago, was once a wealthy cattlemen of West Texas, but entered into a mining project with a man who swindled him out of his wealth and lands. The partner disappeared fifteen years ago and went to Mexico, where he amassed wealth in mining and returned to make restitution.

FIRST SEA VOYAGE.

Discovery Shows It to Have Been 2,000 Years Before Solomon.

Chicago.—Prof. James S. Breasted of the University of Chicago, announced his discovery in Sicily of a portion of a tablet covered with inscriptions, showing that Solomon did not make the first sea voyages. He says that the translation shows that the builder of the first pyramid made a journey with forty ships across the Mediterranean to Lebanon for cedar. This, he says, was two thousand years before Solomon's time.

Coin Found in a Fish's Backbone.

Long Branch, N. J.—Nellie Case, a servant in the home of Mrs. Oliver Byron, discovered a nickel imbedded in the backbone of a butterfish while preparing the fish for the Monday meal. The fish was bought at the market of Capt. John Hennessy. Capt. Hennessy was unable to explain the finding of the coin in the bone of the fish. He is confident, however, that the fish must have swallowed it.

Lasso Saved Man From Abyss.

San Francisco, Cal.—Lassoed at the brink of a steep precipice, A. L. Banks of Philadelphia owes his life to William Rogers of New York City. With Robert Shea of New York, and James Archer of London, Banks and Rogers were riding in the mountains, when Banks' horse slipped. To save himself Banks grasped a bush. Rogers swung his rope and caught Banks around the waist.

WEALTHY DOCTOR TELLS HOW HE DIES

"I Feel the Soul Fleeting," His Record Ends—A Remarkable Narrative Discovered.

HIS YOUNG WIFE FINDS BODY

Scientist's Dying Memorandum to Be Added to the Data of Psychological Research—III Health the Motive for His Dramatic and Spectacular Suicide.

Cincinnati.—Devotion to science dominated Dr. J. J. Blair, even in his resolution to die, and after drinking cyanide of potassium, he sat at his desk and wrote a description of his sensations. He chronicled the phenomena of dying, as long as he could direct his pen, as faithfully as those of any of the thousands of other cases in his medical experience. It was evident from the memorandum found by his young wife shortly after she discovered his body that the physician to the last was interested keenly in what, perhaps, he regarded only as his final great experiment. The point of greatest interest is that in his last moments he seemed to experience proof of after life. Instead of recording that he felt darkness descending upon him, as might be expected of purely physical sensations, he wrote as if his real self was quitting his body. Coming from a scientist, a man 61 years old, who not only was a successful practitioner, but as a chemist amassed millions in the manufacture of medicines, the final sentence is considered of vital importance.

"I feel the soul fleeing," it ran. Dr. Blair was not given to figures of speech. He was intensely practical and noted for calling a spade a spade. It is believed by his associates he meant exactly what he wrote; that he felt his consciousness not being extinguished, but simply withdrawn from further control of the flesh. They insist if his sensation had been merely the approaching cessation of his material life he would have written, "I feel the end coming," or simply, "I am dying." It is the intention of several of his friends to send a report of the case to the American Society for Psychical Research, in the belief it will be regarded by that body as a valuable addition to the data of the search for spiritual experiences.

The pen with which Dr. Blair wrote the story of his death still was in his hand when Mrs. Blair found him dead. His wife was away from him only for a few minutes before and after he died. He wrote a letter early in the afternoon, and asked her to mail it for him. She went directly to the nearest mail box and returned. In that brief interval, however, her husband not only swallowed the poison, but found time to write what he felt.

"I have just sent my wife out to mail a letter," Dr. Blair wrote. "She little thinks that when she returns I will be dead. I have taken Cyanide of potassium, and already feel myself going into a strange sphere. It is sublime. Five minutes have passed and I feel the soul fleeing." Then followed a blur, showing that the physician had tried to write more, but the poison had taken effect. A few moments later he was found dead.

Ill health was the motive for the suicide. Dr. Blair chose historical Stony Point, a tiny river peninsula in Riverside, a suburb of this city, as the scene of his spectacular and dramatic suicide. His magnificent bungalow, on the river bank above, with within his sight and his fast launch and boats were moored nearby in the river.

BROOKLINE BABIES MAY YELL ALL NIGHT.

No Law to Prevent Crying, Wise Selectmen Decided.

Boston.—The babies of Brookline, wealthiest town in the world, may yell at the top of their healthy young lungs and as long as they please now. Let nervous old maids go in hysterics and crusty bachelors tear their hair; it makes no difference to the crying babies.

Very small Donald Howard, who lives with his papa and mamma, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard, at Williamson and Harvard streets, Brookline, has had a pain under his ribs recently, and has cried a great deal. Neighbors of the Howards complained to the Board of Selectmen that little Donald disturbs their peace by day, murders their sleep and is a public nuisance generally.

Very gravely, the Selectmen considered the complaint. They decided, and the precedent now stands in Brookline, that there is no law that forbids a baby to cry, and that therefore, cry as he may, he cannot legally be considered a public nuisance.

VICTIM TELLS HOW LOCKJAW FELT

Doctor was Worried When His Face Began to Stiffen—Fought Disease

St. Louis.—Dr. F. W. Grundmann of Washington avenue, who was pronounced out of danger from lockjaw, after suffering for almost three weeks, described how he felt during his illness.

"In diagnosing my own symptoms a week after the germs of tetanus had entered my blood, I thought I had the disease, but I was not sure," said Dr. Grundmann. "One day, as I was stepping off a street car, it started permanently and threw me on my knee on the street. A hole was ripped in my trousers, and a gash cut in the flesh of my knee, into which earth from the street was ground.

"It gave me no trouble, pained me very little and I gave it no further thought. About a week later I found that I had fever and that the muscles of my neck pained me and were constricted. Next I observed spasmodic jerking of the limbs. These I knew to be premonitory symptoms of lockjaw.

"I was alarmed, naturally, but thought perhaps I might be mistaken, so I visited a physician and told him how I felt. He did not think seriously of the matter, and I believed I might have been mistaken, but nevertheless I was worried, and when that night the symptoms grew more pronounced and became more perceptible I watched them all the more closely.

"That night I got a real shock. I observed a growing rigidity of the muscles of the jaws. If kept on they would become locked beyond all hope of unlocking them."

"In one day I had 6,000 units, about a fluid ounce, of the serum injected. My jaws continued slowly to grow more rigid, but we fought the disease with the serum until at last we saw that we had the disease going the other way, and we fought it out."

"The germs of tetanus may be in any manner of dirt. If you have a wound in your finger and go out into the garden and stick it into the fresh earth you stand a chance of getting lockjaw."

RELIGION CAUSES NERVE CURES IN EVERY CASE.

Rev. Dr. McWilliams of Cleveland Says No Case Has Been a Failure.

Cleveland.—The Rev. Dr. I. S. McWilliams, pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian Church, this city, made public a statement, in which he declared that for several months he has had success in healing both the body and mind by religious influence. He set forth that he has wrought cures of serious nervous ailments and dipsomania. In not a single case, it was said, has there been fail-

"I have wonderfully expanded my sphere of pastoral work by the use of religious therapeutics," said Dr. McWilliams. "I do not pretend to be a faith healer. Instead, I merely try to make the patient know the power of his mind. I have told all the sufferers who have come to me about the sub-conscious mind. I have told him this mind is a reservoir upon which he may draw. I lead the patient to see he has been battling against disease with only a fraction of his force."

"I have found that the patient best can reach the sub-conscious mind when the conscious mind is passive and quiescent. I instruct the patient how to relax those muscles which have been drawn like the strings of an overture violin. When the sub-conscious mind is reached I suggest ideas to work against the disease. I would not dare to say I myself know all about this method of treatment; what I do know is that it has wrought cures in every instance. The one man who was difficult was a drunkard. I treated him twice before going on my vacation, and I have heard he has taken only two glasses of beer since."

A BUFFER STRIP.

Victoria Government Sets Aside Land Along American Boundary.

Victoria, B. C.—The provincial government has set aside a strip of land sixty feet wide along the international boundary line, which will not be available for pre-emption, and on which a permanent reserve, extending to all mining rights, will be placed. This follows an arrangement with the United States government by the British Ambassador at Washington. Frequent trouble has been occasioned heretofore by the lack of this buffer strip in the arrest of criminals and in the application of mining and other laws. The United States government also sets aside a similar strip, and thus the neutral zone will be 120 feet wide.

PHYSICIAN SAYS ELECTRIC CHAIR KILLS

Dr. Irvine Declares Sing Sing Executives Dispute Dr. Shady's Theory. Ossining, N. Y.—Dr. M. T. Irvine, who was, for seventeen years prison physician at Sing Sing, taken issue with Dr. George F. Shady, who has been quoted as saying that there is a doubt in the minds of scientific men as to whether a man shocked by electricity, as carried on by the State in executions, really dies. Dr. Shady says the results of autopsies held on persons killed in this manner have not been convincing.

Dr. Irvine, when told of the statements of Dr. Shady, said: "I have been present and seen sixty-four persons put to death by electricity in this State, and there is no doubt in my mind whatsoever but what all those men were absolutely killed by the electric shock and that death is instantaneous. The changes produced by the electric shock are such that resuscitation, in my opinion, is absolutely impossible. The amount of fresh blood found in the cranium in all of these sixty-four cases I have seen in itself would preclude any possibility of saving a man. Then you have the petechial hemorrhages in the brain tissues. They change in the structure of the blood after the electrical shock. Any one of these, in my opinion, would prove fatal, but when you have them all in each and every case, as I have noticed in autopsies, death is, in my opinion, unquestionable."

Coroner Shady is quoted as saying: "I do not insist that electrocution, as now practiced, does not kill. I only say that a scientific doubt exists. If life exists in the body and the apparent death is only suspended animation, then the surgeon who examines the body kills that man in the autopsy and becomes the executioner."

JURY MELTED BY POEM OF BYRON.

Acquits Man Who Shot Wife After Listening to "Don Juan."

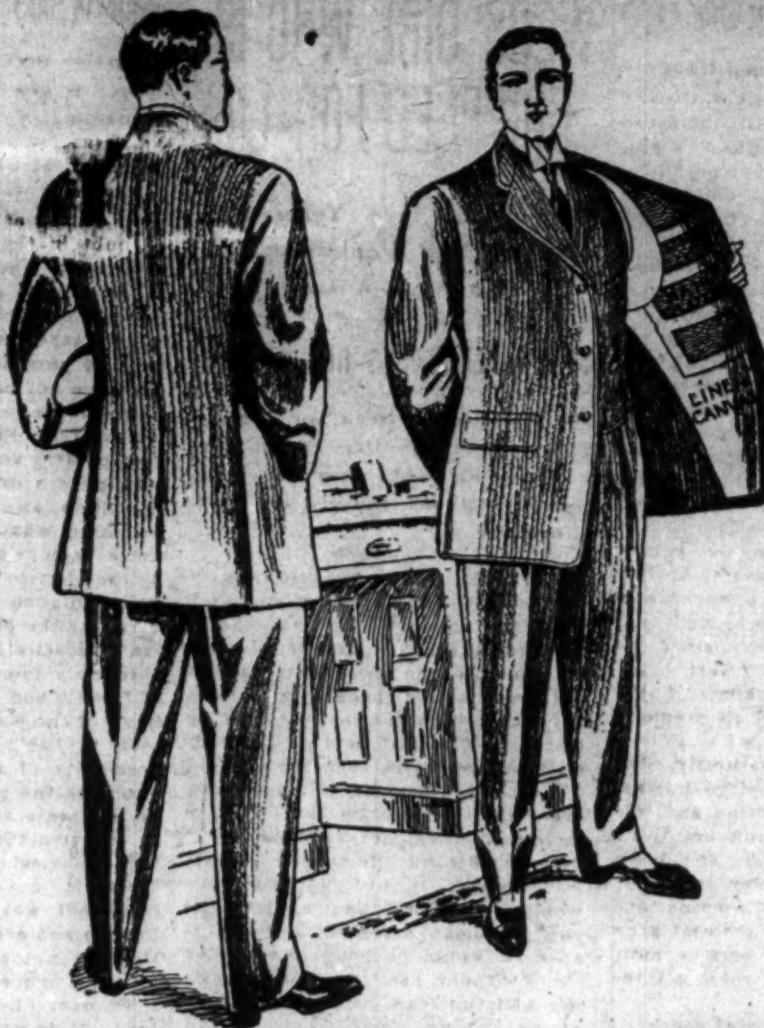

Chicago.—Quotations from Lord Byron's "Don Juan," read by his lawyer, brought about the acquittal of Martin Schleyer, on trial in Kenosha, Wis., on a charge of shooting his wife.

The defense of Schleyer, as announced by his attorneys, George W. Taylor and Calvin Stewart, was to have been the "unwritten law," but when the case came up a plea of insanity was made, and the jury decided that Schleyer was insane when he shot the woman, but he had recovered his sanity. The jury acquitted him.

Schleyer testified to his wife's conduct with a man whom he had shot at the time he shot her. When the case came to argument Taylor discussed legal points and emotional insanity. Stewart paid no attention to the law, and not much to the evidence, but declared that Schleyer had been like the hero of Byron's poem.

While the jurymen brushed tears from their cheeks, Stewart read from "Don Juan" and compared the character of Lambro, who had returned only to find his home and fireside wrecked and his children turned against him.

District Attorney Baker had made a bitter arraignment of Schleyer, but Stewart had reached the hearts of the jurors through Byron's poetry.
